A MESSAGE FROM ANN BULLER

PRESIDENT AND CEO, CENTENNIAL COLLEGE

Change. We encounter it every day. Those with the courage to embrace and effect change undoubtedly achieve a far different kind of success than those who fear it.

When you choose Centennial, you choose to engage in an experience that goes beyond learning the skills and knowledge needed to get a job. You choose to learn about yourself, about our complex world and about the role and responsibility you have in making positive change.

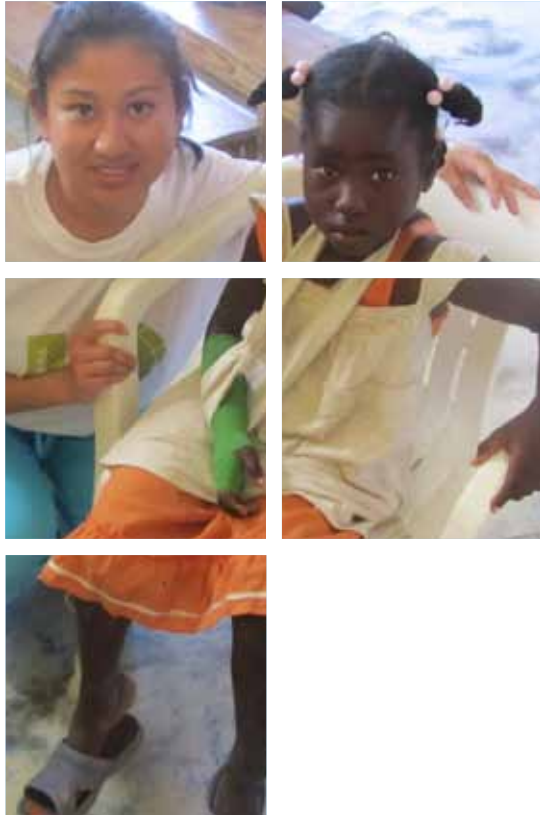

Our Signature Learning Experience (SLE) will challenge and reward you in ways very few college experiences can. As part of the SLE, you'll take Global Citizenship: From Social Analysis to Social Action. Through this course, you'll gain a new perspective on yourself and the world around you.

Industry partners, dynamic and diverse faculty and staff, an exceptional student association and dedicated alumni – these are the groups that make up our community and we're a community that truly believes you can make a difference in the world.

At Centennial, you get more than the expertise and knowledge you need to get the career you want – you gain the perspective that lets you "become the change you wish to see in the world."

Ann Buller

A WORLD OF NEW PERSPECTIVE

Through our Global Citizenship and Equity Learning Experience (GCELE), Centennial College has continued to demonstrate its commitment to student participation in global citizenship learning by providing diverse opportunities for our students. GCE Learning Experience (GCELE) aims to prepare students to be leaders of positive social change in our intricately connected world.

Past GCELE experiences have taken students to Peru where they had the opportunity to make physical improvements to schools, teach pre-planned lessons and assist in developing a small sustainable guinea pig farming co-op.

In Cabarete, Dominican Republic students participated in Teach to Learn, a project empowering youth and their families through community and educational development initiatives in efforts to help break the cycle of poverty.

"Everyday was a learning experience. I learned the importance of teamwork as students worked together in the health clinic as well as in the home renovation projects and kayaking activity. I learned about public and private healthcare systems, which gave me better insight on the advantages and disadvantages of both systems and how they compare to Canada's current healthcare system. And most importantly I gained a better perspective on how the non-profit organization we worked with functioned to reduce the inequalities of poverty and healthcare."

ENDLESS POSSIBILITIES.

You've got the potential. We've got the programs ... and lots of them!

Between our eight different schools, Centennial offers more than 250 full- and part-time programs, all tailored to build on your unique talents and ambitions.

SCHOOL OF TRANSPORTATION

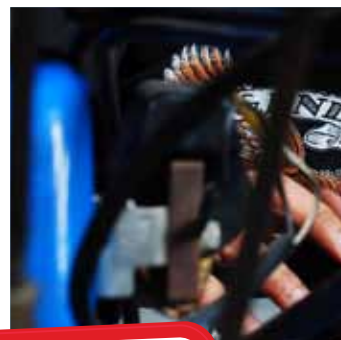

SERIOUS MACHINES. SERIOUS TRAINING.

Have you ever wanted to work at an airport maintaining the planes we fly in, or in a transportation facility servicing the cars, trucks, motorcycles or buses that travel our roads? How about repairing the heavy equipment used to develop our cities or build our highways? If so, then Centennial's School of Transportation is where you want to begin your career.

As a School of Transportation student, you will train in one of the largest on-site, state-of-the-art transportation training facilities in Canada. Here you will be taught by some of the industry's most highly-skilled educators.

The School of Transportation offers traditional apprenticeship training, one- and two-year apprenticeship programs, along with one- and two-year post-secondary programs. Thanks to our industry partnerships, we also offer apprenticeship training programs with Toyota, Honda, Ford, GM, Freightliner, Mack/Volvo, Automotive Transportation Service Superintendents Association (ATS), Chrysler, Toronto Automobile Dealers Association (TADA) and Canadian Tire.

Depending upon the trade, apprenticeships vary from two to five years, consisting of on-the-job training and related class studies at the College. At the conclusion of your apprenticeship you can write the exam for your Certificate of Qualification, certifying you as a licensed technician in your chosen occupation.

Statistics Canada estimates that by 2020 there will be a skills trades shortage of approximately 1 million trades people, making this the perfect time to begin your training to meet the demand.
